GLOBAL CONSUMER TRENDS ARE IMPACTING THE ROLE OF PACKAGING

As consumers become more health conscious and reduce their overall alcohol consumption, they seek higher quality and unique experiences when choosing their favorite Spirit.

Whether looking for high-end Spirits, or the latest hip gin, or an authentic craft distillery, consumers are presented with an ever growing choice of flavors and variants, and store shelves are packed with brands and bottles.

How to stand out? What will make the shopper pick one product over another? Packaging plays a key role in conveying your unique brand story.

Please visit our website to learn more about consumer trends impacting the Spirits industry.

Its natural composition means that the glass container is considered practically inert, that is to say that it does not absorb and does not interact with the food and beverages it contains.

Glass is the only food contact material that the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) considers "generally recognized as safe".

Glass does not allow the leaking of dangerous chemicals that harm land, oceans or marine life.

At O-I we know Glass is never waste, making it an ideal container for the circular economy. Glass is 100% recyclable, infinitely. It can be endlessly recycled without loss of quality or purity.

FINISHES

The containers manufactured by O-I have different types of finishes in each product category. Please refer to the packaging detail tables shown for each individual mold number to determine the exact finishes available.

COLORS

Because it is a useful resource in the aesthetics and protection of the content, the color of the glass can be a differential factor for your product, without losing the property of being able to see the interior of the container and at the same time, preserving the content from exposure to the elements. UV rays, potentially harmful.
